

AMSA & GSA Household Goods and Freight Conference
February 2 – 5, 2004
Hyatt Regency Atlanta
Atlanta, Georgia

Spend Three Days in Atlanta, Take Home a Year's Worth of Valuable Information

“Making It Work For You”

Trucking and moving company executives and Federal civilian agency officials meeting to discuss their mutual transportation needs and opportunities results in huge benefits for both.

The GSA's Household Goods and Freight Conference gives trucking industry executives and Federal officials a forum for sharing information that will help both perform their functions more effectively – through information-packed sessions, expert speakers, an exhibit area presenting the latest in industry services, and in personal contacts.

For Federal officials involved in transportation, the Conference will give you valuable information on employee relocation and freight management directly from the people who supply these services. You will also be able to meet with the top transportation executives to discuss your specific needs. Through Conference sessions, you will learn more about transportation techniques and ways of doing business.

For Transportation executives, the conference allows you to meet face-to-face with your Federal customers to discuss your services and to learn about your customers' concerns, thinking and planning. You will also learn about the latest GSA programs and procedures.

Companies will also have the opportunity to showcase their services and organizations in the highly-attended exhibition area of the Conference. Spaces have been arranged for over 80 companies to exhibit in the attractive Exhibit Hall of the Hyatt Regency, Atlanta.

Information on registering and/or exhibiting at this Conference is included in the attached brochure. If you provide transportation services to Federal agencies or if you are a Federal agency who uses these services, these three days in Atlanta will be golden.
